Jaico Publishing House, Delhi, India. Softcover. Book Condition: New. Nirad G. Chaudhuri's autobiography is one of the classic of contemporary Indian literature. When it was first published in 1951 it was instantly acclaimed. and provoked a furious debate for its controversial insights into India and European history. Autobiography of an Unknown Indian is both a profoundly analysis of twentieth-century historical trends as the personal story of an erudite, humane and civilized man. Chaudhuri begins the book with an elegant and beautifully remembered account of his childhood in rural Bengal and takes us through the Calcutta of his youth. In addition, he gives the reader a lucid exposition of Hinduism beginning with its birth in the Yedic ages, he examines the nineteenth-century Hindu revivalism of Swami Vivekananda, and probes the roots of the chronic Hindu-Muslim antagonism that plagues Indian society even today. Nirad Chaudhuri also offers penetrating insights into what he believes caused the partition of India in 1947. As V.S. Naipaul says, 'Chaudhuri's Autobiography may be the one book to have come out of the Indo-English encounter. It has Withstood the test of time, and is still considered the author's greatest Work. Printed Pages: 582.
