II, c. 33) came into force on 25 March 1754, and thereupon, the Cathedral being extra-parochial, a special licence of the Archbishop of Canterbury became necessary for a marriage there. Such special licence is still necessary, except for marriages of persons residing within the Cathedral precinct, who may now be married in the Cathedral by banns or licence, under the authorization obtained from the Bishop of Winchester, dated 10 May 1867. Although the fact is not noted in the Register, many of the marriages before 25th March, 1754, were by licence of the Bishop, as appears from the Hampshire Allegations for Marriage Licences granted by the Bishop of Winchester, 1689 to 1837 (Harleian Society Publications, vols, xxxv xxxvi). A sheet of paper, containing the following entries, is affixed to...
