We are always in search of new delicacies, each one of us endeavouring to improve upon the dressing, cooking, and serving of little dainties of every description. In these days it is considered desirable that a table be furnished with the most exquisite dishes, not only delightful to the taste, but pleasing to the most fastidious eye. To many, a good meal is one of the greatest enjoyments of human life. A cook of genius will invent new dishes to please the taste and palate of those for whom she is working. What is one man s food is another man s poison. The culinary art, like all others, is subject to change. The variations in cooking have led me to publish this work, and I can confidently state that any recipes found here are not borrowed from other books, the ideas being, on the contrary, entirely my own, and the result of practical and economical experience.
